cleared off its debt of $800, and has issued a call to Rev. Theodore Winecoop to succeed Rev. Dr. Wills. Mr. Winecoop is a single man, a native of Trenton, N. Ferguson arrived in the city this afternoon with eight hundred thousand young shad for distribution in the waters of Maryland and Virginia. A tramp hailing from the District of Columbia was entertained at the almshouse in Piy mouth. Mass., on the night of the 7th Januar last. On leaving in the morning he desired Superintendent Wood to take charge for three or four weeks of a good black leather valise, which seemed to be heavy and well filled. The valise not having been sent for, it was opened a few days ago, and found to contain a good assortment of clothing, pair of gaiter boots, and other articles. Several of the articles were marked "B. Comnolly." Now Mr. Connelly will know where to find his

The Court in General Term to-day amended the rules as to the time of filing bills of review to read as follows: No bill of review shall be filed but within two years after the entry of the decree or order, with the exception speci cified in the proviso to section 1,008 of the Revised Statutes of the United States. KILLED BY A RAILROAD TRAIN .- The express train which left the Baltimore and Ohio depot at half-past seven o'clock last evening was near Ivy City ten minutes afterwards, where the cow catcher struck a white man walking on the track, and so badly injure him about the head that he died about 9:2 o'clock last evening, after he had been brought to this city. The deceased appeared to be about 26 years of age, light complexioned, with reddish moustache, the other portions of the face being cleanly shaved; was 5 feet 10 inches in height, and wore a black slouch hat, dark coat, black striped pants, a checkered calico shirt, white linen collar, black silk searf, heavy white yarn socks, and a pair of army shoes. There were no marks on the body, and no papers were found which would serve to identify him. He was evidently a laboring man, carrying home a supper for his family. He had a white willow covered basket, which contained a shinbone ready cracked, a sma'l package of green tea, some suet, one ginger cake wrapped in brown paper, and three pickles inclosed in a piece of white paper, on which was written in lead pencil "Mrs. Eennett." The body was to-day identified as that of Lewis C. Brenner, a plate printer by trade, born and raised on Capitol Hill, and who being out of work has for some time been living in Bladensburg with his brother-in-law, to whose place he was on his way at the time. The coroner viewed the body this morning, and is holding an inquest this afternoon. Some persons claim that as the blood found near the body of the man had coagulated he must have been killed before the 7:30 train struck him.

Johnson, vice president, was in the chair, and H. C. Chase, secretary. The meeting was opened with praver by ex-state senator Campbell, of Georgia. The vice president, for the benefit of the new members, gave a brief outline of the object of the organization, and spoke encouragingly upon what would soon be done by the colored people of the District of Columbia, saying that it was impossible for them to subsist upon nothing, and the sooner they left this District the better it would be for them. The financial roll was called, and the members responded liberally. An amendment to the by-laws, changing the meetings from every Monday night to every other Monday night, commencing with the first Monday in May, was adopt The vice president then introduced the Rev. Mr. Simpson, of Virginia, and he and Rev. Mr. Campbell, of Georgia, and William H. Bell, esq., all made encouraging remarks upon the plan adopted by the colored citizens of the District. Capt. O. S. Curtis was in court, and was during the day examined by Drs. Bliss and Cox as to his physicial condition. The Training School for Nurses. IN THE WASHINGTON CHURCHES.

A meeting of the corporators and trustees of the Washington Training School for Nurses was held last night at the rooms of the Labor Exchange; present, the president, Dr. Antisell; Dr. Murphy, secretary; Mr. and Mrs. Hitz, Mrs. Governor Clafflin, Mrs. Gangewer, Mrs. Tullock, Mrs. Spackman, Drs. J. Taber Johnson, Robert Reyburn, J. M. Toner, Flo-dorado Howard, C. C. Cox, Dr. Ross, Dr. Beale, Mr. Gangewer, Mr. Tullock, A. S. Solomons and others. Mrs. Hitz, from the committee on arrangements for public meeting made a report stating that they had waited upon Gen. Eaton, commissioner of education, to invite him to deliver the inaugural address, and that he had consented to do so. The report was accepted and Willard Hall designated as the place for the meeting. Several recommendations from medical men of young women desirous of entering the training school for nurses as soon as opened were placed on file. The subject of engaging a suitable hall for the regular meetings of the society was taken up and discussed. It was finally decided to accept the tender of the Labor Exchange of their new quarters in the Simpson House, recently constructed on Pennsylvania avenue, south side, between 9th and 10th streets A committee was instructed to wait upon W. Corcoran W. Corcoran, the honorary president, and notify him of their purpose of celebrating the opening of this school, and invite him to be present. Mrs. Hitz stated that Gen. Dr. Cox moved that the secretary be requested to send an invitation to Dr Loring, of Boston; adopted. The chair stated that Dr. Toner was expected to take part in the opening exercises. Dr. Toner, who was present, said he thought it questionable whether it would be for the best interests of the enterprise for any local medical gentlemen to take a prominent part. He would like to know the sentiments of the members. Drs. Murphy and Johnson thought it would give general satisfaction to the members and to the public; besides, a lecture by Dr. Toner and one by Dr. Palmer would give a high tonto the organization and inspire confidence with the public. On motion the secretary was instructed to send a formal invitation to Dr. Toner to give a brief lecture on the occasion referred to. Dr. Johnson said he thought some specific arrangements should be perfected to enter actively upon the business for which they had organized, immediately after the opening exercises. It was, after some dis cussion, ascertained that Dr. Reyburn had signified his willingness to lecture before the school on physiology; Dr. Beale, on surgical nursing; Dr. Ross, on medicines, and Dr. Johnson, on obstetrical nursing. Some dis cussion followed on the further arrangement of lectures, and, on motion of Dr. Toner, the whole matter was referred to a conference o the medical members of the school for ar rangement and report at the next meeting Dr. Beale was elected assistant to the secre

A MAN UNDER THE BED. Frank Washington, a stout built negro, was arraigned on the charge of assaulting a small girl, Fanny Killgar, daughter of Mr. Killgar, residing at 717 3d street northwest. Mr. Coyle stated to the court that this was a clear case of burglarious entry, but a technical difficulty being in the way he would bring this case of assault, which could be established. The little girl testified that on the evening of the 20th instant, about 8 o'clock, she went up stairs with her mother to dress before going to market. She held a lighted candle in her hand, and while in the bed-room she saw a man's feet projecting from under the bed. She gave her mother notice, and the cover was raised, when this man pulled his hat over his face, covering it completely. She knew him; saw him previously in front of the house. He scrambled out and she ran out before him, and in his flight he pushed her with great violence against the wall, nearly knocking her down, and then jumped through an open window to the ground. Washington had no witnesses. but his statement was taken under oath, of course denying the whole thing, and claiming that it was a case of mistaken identity. He claimed that he was in market with his wife at the time alleged. Six months in jail. Appeal

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Sewer Ventilation. Editor Star .- In a late issue of the STAR, I noticed a communication from B. S., upon the ventilation of sewers. It is a subject, upon which the people have apparently, less information in proportion to the extant knowledge to be found in books, etc., than almost any other. This seems the more remarkable, because the principles involved are simple and easily understood. The ventilation of a sewer, in the sense in which the word is applied to buildings, is impossible, because of enormous ramification of the sewers, and laterals and the great number of openings. Any force of suction applied to draw out the foul air, simply effects the space between the point of application and the nearest inlet through which fresh air may enter. Any application of power to force out the foul air by injecting fresh air, is dissipated at the nearest openings. All that can be done n this direction, is to dispose of so much of these foul gases as come out of their own accord. If plenty of openings exist, the laws of nature will ensure such a dilution of the gases within the sewer with foul air, and such a constant escape of the pure air as will prevent the air within the sewers from becomng dangerously impure. Such openings, nowever, ought never to be at the street level, nor in the vicinity of windows. The only safe and inexpensive plan, is to carry every soil pipe high above the roofs of adjacent houses, and this ought to be regulated by an ordinance from some competent authority. It is a com-mon practice among good plumbers, and ought to be made obligatory upon all. The problem, as to the street gullies, is not a difficult one. Each gully should be constructso as to give free ingress to street water and be so constructed, that a flow of fresh air inward at the same opening, but from thence, underground to a neighboring chimney or pipe, carried up the wall above the roof, will carry with it all the sewer gas which comes up that lateral from the sewer. The time is coming when this gas will be consumed and destroyed in the nearest lamppost. To do so would require an ever-burning gas flame with a suitable burner. This will e independent of the illuminating flame in the lantern. With favorable grades, which we cannot get n Washington, sewerage can be moved and lischarged so rapidly as to materially modify he sewer gas nuisance. That result we probably shall never realize in Washington; certainly not, except it be by artificial means. But with the most rapid movement and discharge the sides of the sewers will be more or less fouled with adhering sewage, and every trap will remain a miniature manufactorybut a sensible one—of sewer gas, because as a rule all solid matters discharged into a trap are retained there until entirely dissolved. The only possible remedy for sewer gas is in ventilation, applied directly at the inlet end o every drain pipe. By this means the foul gases which are given off from the fermenting matters with which every drain pipe, big and little, is lined throughout, may be removed to the upper atmosphere, or utterly destroyed by heat if we choose to incur that expense. Science has not supplied us with any other resource which effects more than a palliation. Respectfully, R. D. O. S.
